

An Alien Island

- Raj Kumar Sharma

The Mediterranean waves sparkle a nostalgic string, that echo the Gangetic gurgle of spring.
Sun-baked shore at twilight presents a lovely sight,
that reminds of the singing river on moonlit night.
A symmetry that really stirs our imagination and induces us to go for an introspection.
What drove you away from the breath of nativity?
Was it a materialistic vision or sheer curiosity to explore the nature of distant human generation?
an idea that has truly led to many revelations.
Setting aside the fragrance of native flower,
truly tests our wisdom, patience and will-power.
A broad vision pacifies the turbulent thought.
The concepts of mine and yours God hasn't wrought,
Then our mind towards a harmony is inclined,
the feeling of native and alien gets reconciled.

Raj Kumar Sharma

Assistant Professor of English
Al-Margeb University, Khoms
Libya